

MINERVA RESEARCH INITIATIVE

SUPPORTING SOCIAL SCIENCE FOR A SAFER WORLD

An Information Session CLAS Conference Room, 210 Strong Hall Friday, May 10, from 1:00 to 2:00

Hosted by KU Office of Research

The Minerva Research Initiative supports social science research aimed at improving our basic understanding of security, broadly defined. All supported projects are university-based and unclassified, with the intention that all work be shared widely to support thriving stable and safe communities. The goal is to improve DoD's basic understanding of the social, cultural, behavioral, and political forces that shape regions of the world of strategic importance to the U.S.

Agenda

- Overview of the Minerva Program
- FY19 Research Priorities
- KU support resources for Minerva proposals

This information session will review program information, help you connect to other faculty in related scholarship areas, and share resources you can leverage to develop a strong proposal. For further information about the Minerva program, see the website:

<https://minerva.defense.gov/>

Questions, contact:

Bob Rummer, Research Development

bobrummer@ku.edu

864-3149