Summer 2025

KANSAS CONSORTIUM-INTELLIGENCE COMMUNITY CENTER FOR ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

SCHOLARSHIP SUPPORT

The U.S. Intelligence Community requires a competitive, knowledgeable, and diverse workforce. With funding from the U.S. Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI), the Kansas Consortium-Intelligence Community Center for Academic Excellence (Kansas-ICCAE) provides educational resources, support, and workplace and cultural experiences for students who wish to serve as qualified intelligence professionals to carry out the nation's long-term national security initiatives. This year, study abroad scholarships of $5,000 to $8,500 are available to ICCAE-affiliated students who are studying abroad on one of these programs offered through the University of Kansas and consortium schools.

To be eligible for study abroad scholarships, students must be U.S. citizens and undergraduate students enrolled full-time at Dodge City Community College, Garden City Community College, Kansas City Kansas Community College, Seward County Community College, or KU during the spring 2025 semester. Students must have completed or plan to complete one of the INSS courses prior to or during the spring 2025 term. These INSS courses are online and available at the University of Kansas and consortium schools. For more information on the Kansas-ICCAE, visit <https://iccaie.ku.edu>.
